

2009 LIMAN SUMMER FELLOWS

In conjunction with other schools, the Arthur Liman Public Interest Program helps to support students at Barnard, Brown, Harvard, Princeton, Spelman and Yale to spend a summer working at public interest law organizations. Summer Fellows have worked on a range of issues such as children's rights, immigrants' rights, drug policies, indigent criminal defense, and the death penalty. The Summer Fellowships are supported with the help of the Liman Family, its foundation, and filmmaker Doug Liman.
