

STEVEN RATTNER

Until July 2009, Steve Rattner served as Counselor to the Secretary of the Treasury and led the Administration's efforts to restructure the auto industry. Prior to joining the Treasury Department in February 2009, he was a Managing Principal of Quadrangle Group LLC, a private investment firm with more than $6 billion of assets under management. Quadrangle invests in media and communications companies through separate private and public investment strategies and across all asset classes through its asset management business. Quadrangle has offices in New York, London and Hong Kong.

Until March 2000, Mr. Rattner was with Lazard Frères & Co., where he served as Deputy Chairman and Deputy Chief Executive Officer. Mr. Rattner, who joined Lazard Frères in 1989 as a General Partner, was previously a Managing Director at Morgan Stanley. Before beginning his investment banking career in 1982 with Lehman Brothers, Mr. Rattner was employed by The New York Times for nearly nine years, principally as an economic correspondent in New York, Washington and London.

Mr. Rattner has served as a board member or trustee of a number of public and philanthropic organizations including the Educational Broadcasting Corporation (Chairman), Metropolitan Museum of Art, Mayor's Fund to Advance New York City (Chairman), Brookings Institution and the New America Foundation. He is currently a Fellow of Brown University and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

He has also served on a number of public commissions and committees, including the International Monetary Fund Advisory Committee, the President's Commission to Study Capital Budgeting and the International Competition Policy Advisory Committee. He continues to write on public policy issues for publications that include The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post and The Financial Times.

Mr. Rattner graduated in 1974 from Brown University with honors in economics and was awarded the Harvey Baker Fellowship. Mr. Rattner, 57 years old, is married to Maureen White, who is the former National Finance Chair of the Democratic National Committee, and they have four children.
